THE OLD PROSPECTOR has many golden memories to be preserved in this journal. These memories are recorded here in pictures and words. When he entered the gold fields of Klondike High School, the prospector became familiar with the gold mines and realized there was more to school life than books and studying. Many types of miners--faculty, students, cooks, custodians, and bus drivers--were necessary to bring the ore from the mines. Athletes added to school spirit and helped provide contact with those from other schools. Activities throughout the year were provided for all students who wished to participate. The Prospector staff of 1961-1962 has tried to capture the spirit of this year for you.

A-Feudin' Over Yonder

A hilarious Hillbilly play, rich in the humor of the Ozarks was the Junior class choice. Under the direction of Mr. Sink, the thespians gradually became familiar with their roles.

Shortly before 8:00 p.m. on November 17, 1961, fifteen excited actors, wearing ragged dungarees and shirts and carrying shot guns and even a plucked chicken, were rushing around in order to be ready for the first act.

The plot revolved around the Popoff and the Fry families who had been feuding for years because one of the Popoff boys had said he was going out to shoot an old skunk and accidentally shot Paw Fry. There was also much talk and speculation about the traveling preacher who came every spring and was willing to marry couples. Rosie Bell Fry, being handy with a gun, took the only unattached man in the hills from under her sister Emmy's nose. Emmy, who wanted to get "hitched," decided she would end up an old maid if she didn't get one of the Popoffs. But how could she marry someone with whom her family was feuding? A fascinating character came to her aid: Mountain Maggie, a fairy godmother complete with magic love potions. This old veteran of the hills was tired of healing wounds received during the constant feuding so she gave Pappy Popoff a potion to make him love Maw Fry. When they had just about decided to get married, Rosie Bell revealed the trick and the feud raged full force. After many mix-ups, of course, everyone got a mate and the feud ended all happy

On March 30, the Senior Class presented their play, a rollicking outer space comedy. As the curtain opened to Blue Rimrock, a small town 'way out West, Oswald Agnew, a mild-mannered young graduate of Hackensack Teachers College in Hoboken, arrives to accept his first assignment. He's understandably astounded to find that he is to be the first male teacher at Rimrock High School in ten years. The first major problem he meets is the precocious, ferocious principal, Mrs. Matchett. Not only is she an incurable early riser and sentence diagrammer, she's the football coach! Equally disturbing is Spaceman, a senior science student who is such an interstellar, outerspace enthusiast he has practically forgotten his own name. To make the situation even worse, there's slithery Lulu Grumbine, a man-hungry student who's eager for some private tutoring. There are also the class steadies who spend half their time spitting and the other half making up. As for Mr. Agnew's fellow teachers--well, the only one who bothers to offer the least assistance is prim, grim Miss Chisle, who talks like a textbook and is just as glamorous. Unfortunately, she's in solid with Mrs. Matchett and heartily disapproves of Mr. Agnew's approach to grammar.

The first-period class is only minutes old before things start off with a bang! Just as the new teacher is putting the finishing touches on a blackboard diagram of a simple sentence, Spaceman starts chanting a count-down which quickly sends his homemade moon rocket crashing straight through the roof and off into the wild blue yonder.

But all is not lost. The students flock loyally to Mr. Agnew's badly battered banner and with methods utterly unknown to any teachers' college help him win the day and save his job. In the process, Spaceman discovers Lulu; Lulu, her headset and antenna flashing brightly, finds her new love in outer space; Janis and Judy perform a miraculous transformation on the amazed Miss Chisle, who--in turn--opens Mr. Agnew's weary-bleary eyes to the wonders of demonstrative adjectives. Properly impressed, the undaunted Mrs. Matchett, the best single-wing blocker since the invention of football relents and appoints Mr. Agnew the new coach. When Spaceman starts his final count-down at the third-act curtain---well, who can tell? Even the audience may go into orbit.

Seeking to present a factual and interesting record of the 1961-1962 Klondike School year, from Football Barbecue to graduation, the Prospector staff began work early. Thus, in the spring they held general planning sessions. Teams soliciting advertising to finance the yearbook completed their task even before the first day of school. Then, the staff assigned and money secured, the actual production began. Ideas became actuality as write-ups were finished, photos delivered, and layouts devised. Interlinking all facets of junior and senior high school activities posed difficulty. However, with "brainstorming" and individual originality, a theme to solve this problem took shape. The implementation of this linkage demanded constant ingenuity. Additionally, there were deadlines to meet, quotas to sell, and numerous problems to solve of wordage, placement, and inclusion of materials. Only by fine inter-staff co-operation and experienced advice did the 1962 Prospector reach production. With paper, typewriters, photos, dictionary, and thesaurus, plus human persistence and creativity, one hundred and eight blank pages became the chronicle of the year - - a memory in words and pictures.

Consisting of twelve representatives, two from each class in the Junior-Senior High, the Student Council is the student governing body of Klondike. The representatives, elected in the spring for the succeeding school year, selected their own officers. The Student Council met on the first Monday of each month to discuss current school problems and answer any questions posed by the students through their representatives. Under the direction of their teacher advisors, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Richardson, and in co-operation with the principal, Mr. Sink, the Council discharged its duties. These included the selecting of amateur and professional entertainment for convocations, overseeing noontime activities, and sponsoring sockhops. The Council hopes to add the chartering of any new club or organization to its duties. However, for the past two years, the Council's most important work has been the revising of the student handbook, previously called the "K Book." Although, somewhat limited in power, the opinions of the Student Council, thus the reflections of student-body thought, exerted significant influence on the school's policy-makers throughout the year.

Chartered in April of 1958, the Klondike Gold and White Chapter of the National Honor Society strives to promote scholarship, character, leadership and service in the high school. Members are selected only after intensive screening. Students in the business and general as well as the academic curriculum are eligible. If scholastically eligible in the first semester of their sophomore year, candidates are then rated by the faculty in four categories covering personality and character traits. Then, if acceptable, they become probationary members and have their grades reviewed at the end of the year before becoming active members through initiation. Junior and senior candidates must meet the same standards, but need not serve a probationary membership. If a member's average drops below a set minimum, he is automatically suspended as the small, gold Society pin must signify only outstanding pupils. Seniors who retain their membership through graduation receive special recognition at Commencement and a gold seal bearing the Society's emblem on their diploma.

Meeting the first Monday of every month, the Society was busy amending the constitution to make its terminology more explanatory. Mrs. Lucille White, chairman of the organization's sponsors, reminded the members that the National Honor Society was an active group not merely an honorary.

The Math-Science Club, grown from a small core of interested students, has become an enthusiastic, formidable group. Maintaining its emphasis on presenting scientific information and stimulating individual projects, the organization had an active year. There were guest speakers, films, student demonstrations, and even field trips. However, the March 1st, Klondike Science Fair was the highlight of the club's program. The second annual Fair demanded detailed planning and arrangements. Numerous committees were responsible for its staging. Rules were studied and revamped, judges obtained, participants registered, facilities gathered, and awards purchased. Klondike winners advanced to compete in the Regional Science Fair. Striving to inform members and interest others in science's principles and application, the Math-Science Club filled a valuable role in the Klondike year.

Library Staff

These high school students served as student assistants in the libraries and offices. With the addition of a new grade school library, the library staff was doubled this year. The librarians checked in and out books, shelved books, mended books and magazines and assisted students in finding reference material, while the girls who composed the office staff typed letters, filed, answered the phone and took messages. For one semester the student assistants received one-fourth a credit. Working on these staffs gave the students a chance to serve the student body, and also gave them work experience in a library or office.

The red and white F.H.A. colors appeared many times during the past school year. First, of course, came the membership drive and party, which was a success. Klondike's chapter of F.H.A. was proud to initiate 35 new members. A style show with a Christmas theme was given at the initiation, with members modeling their own garments. The money-making project for the year was a candy sale. Through the hard work of many girls the organization earned sufficient funds to finance activities later in the year. A number of members served as hostesses at the dedication of the new grade school wing. Several filled the same roles at the Hi-Y initiation.

A genuine effort was made to promote further interest in home economics by the careful planning of a wide range of programs. Interesting speeches, demonstrations, and field trips highlighted the Future Homemakers' of America year.

The Purpose: To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school and community high standards of Christian character.

The Platform: Clean Living, Clean Speech, Clean Athletics, Clean Scholarship.

The Function-To Help Youth: Achieve a more Christian way of living by developing personal integrity and self-discipline and a growing sense of personal worth: by performing useful community service; by conserving and strengthening democratic traditions, and by cooperating with other groups of young people to achieve these objectives.

The Klondike Chapter of Hi-Y was formally chartered on December 14, 1961, in an impressive candlelight service. The new organization made and sold evergreen wreaths to raise money for its empty treasury. During the week before vacation, to stress the actual meaning of Christmas, the boys gave a series of short, morning, religious services ending with a full forty-five minute convocation. These, entirely Hi-Y planned and presented, were attended on a voluntary basis, to comply with the principle of the separation of school and religion.

The 4-H Clubs in Wabash Township are an intricate part of our summer program. While the girls are busy learning to bake cakes, sew skirts and blouses and preserve foods, the boys are finding out the best way to feed calves, fit sheep and pigs and catch insects. Of course, the 4-H Club isn't all work! The 4-H'ers attend camp and help on County Highway Safety Day. In 1961, under the leadership of Ann Scifres, Robert Holm and Ron Kerber, the Klondike 4-H Clubs, the Comets and Junior Farmers, were the largest and most active in Tippecanoe County.

Five days a week for fifty-five minutes each day the band room was filled with the music of the Klondike High School Senior Band. The piccolos and tubas, enlivened by the tones of reeds and percussion, composed the largest senior band yet organized. It included grades seven to twelve. Now in its eighth year, the band, originated with Mrs. Catherine Sommers. Its 64 members took pride in their excellent home football and basketball halftime shows. From the mellow-voiced oboe to the rhythmic tempo of the drum all members took part in community affairs such as Lafayette and West Lafayette parades, Purdue High School Band Day, and the 500 Parade. The bands' members, assisted by their director, Mr. John Adams, entered their individual talents in the Indiana School Association's Solo and Ensemble Contest. Also directed by Mr. Adams are the German Band, Dance Band, Pep Band, and the String Ensemble, which have given us many hours of listening enjoyment. The diversity of the instrumentation of the bands made possible its great amount of participation in school and community events.

All That's Gold Does

Coach Walker and his youthful gridders found the 1961 season profitable despite their record. Early in August, the squad gathered to start a vigorous training session. Coach Walker and his golden Nuggets practiced blocking, tackling, and running from the single wing. The August 30th Chicken Barbecue, sponsored by the Athletic Boosters, climaxed the preseason training. By that night, Coach Walker had chosen his starting eleven, and used the boys to demonstrate and explain the different phases of the game to a student-parent preview session. The evening was also the financial highlight of the K.H.S. grid season.

On September 1, the Nuggets opened their 1961 grid campaign meeting White's Institute. Although playing well the first half, the inexperienced Nuggets couldn't manage to score while the visitors rolled up 27 points. In the second half the improved K.H.S. squad tallied as Koehler plunged into the end zone. White's Institute then pushed their total to 39 points. Coach Walker's team suffered a double loss with veteran halfback Bylsma's broken wrist, which he injured on the first play of the second quarter. This injury kept him out of the lineup for the season.

On September 8, Morocco's Beavers romped to a half-time 26-0 lead. The Nuggets, still spirited, made a strong comeback. Watkins and Colby spearheaded a Klondike 73 yard scoring drive. Then, after an exchange of punts, Watkins took a punt and returned the ball 30 yards. He plunged in for the touchdown from the one and then successfully passed to Colby for another point. Quickly retaliating on a long 62 yard scoring play, Morocco wrapped up its 32-13 victory.

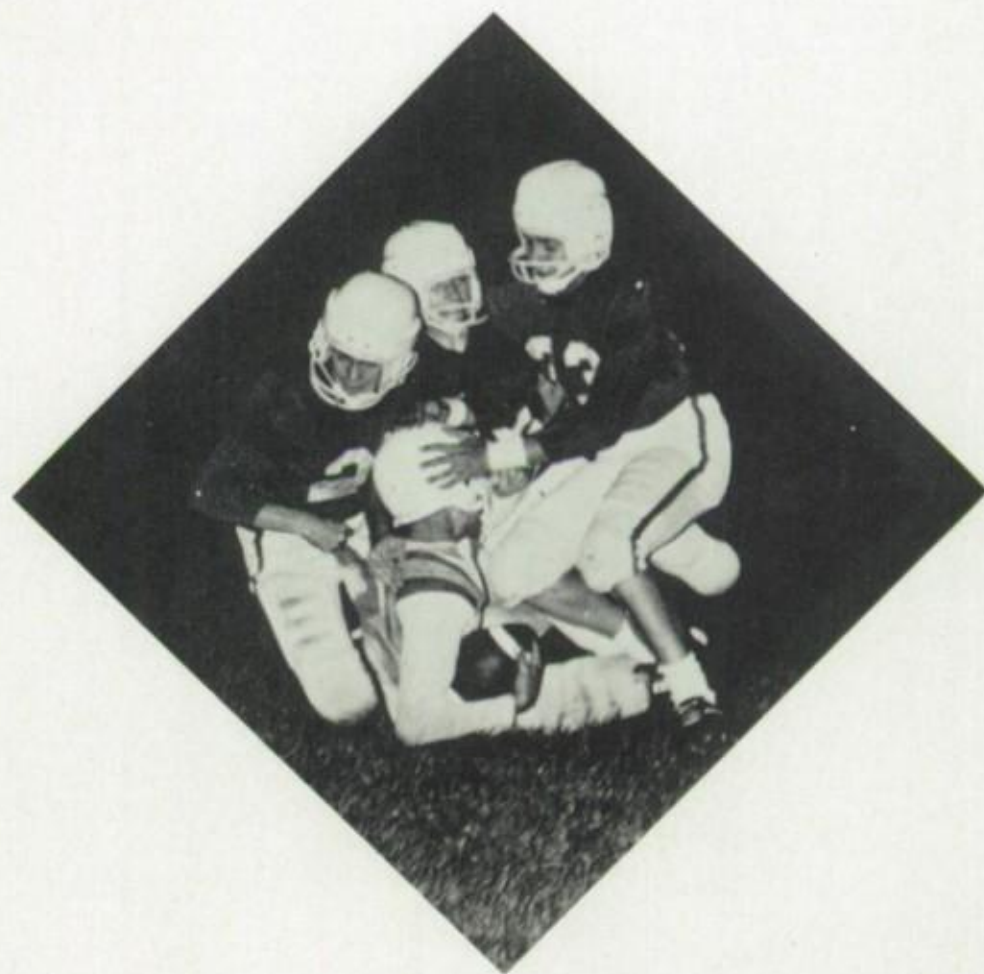

The Nuggets were on the verge of upsetting Clinton Central on the following Friday, September 15, but didn't get the necessary breaks. The teams were evenly matched throughout the duel. The luckless Nuggets took the opening kickoff and pushed deep into Bulldog territory only to fumble on the four-yard line. After an exchange of punts, Klondike again pushed to the ten and again failed to score. Then, the Bulldogs drove for a TD, converted, and ended the half 7-0 in their favor. Twice in the final half Central broke loose, going on to win the hard-fought battle 20-0.

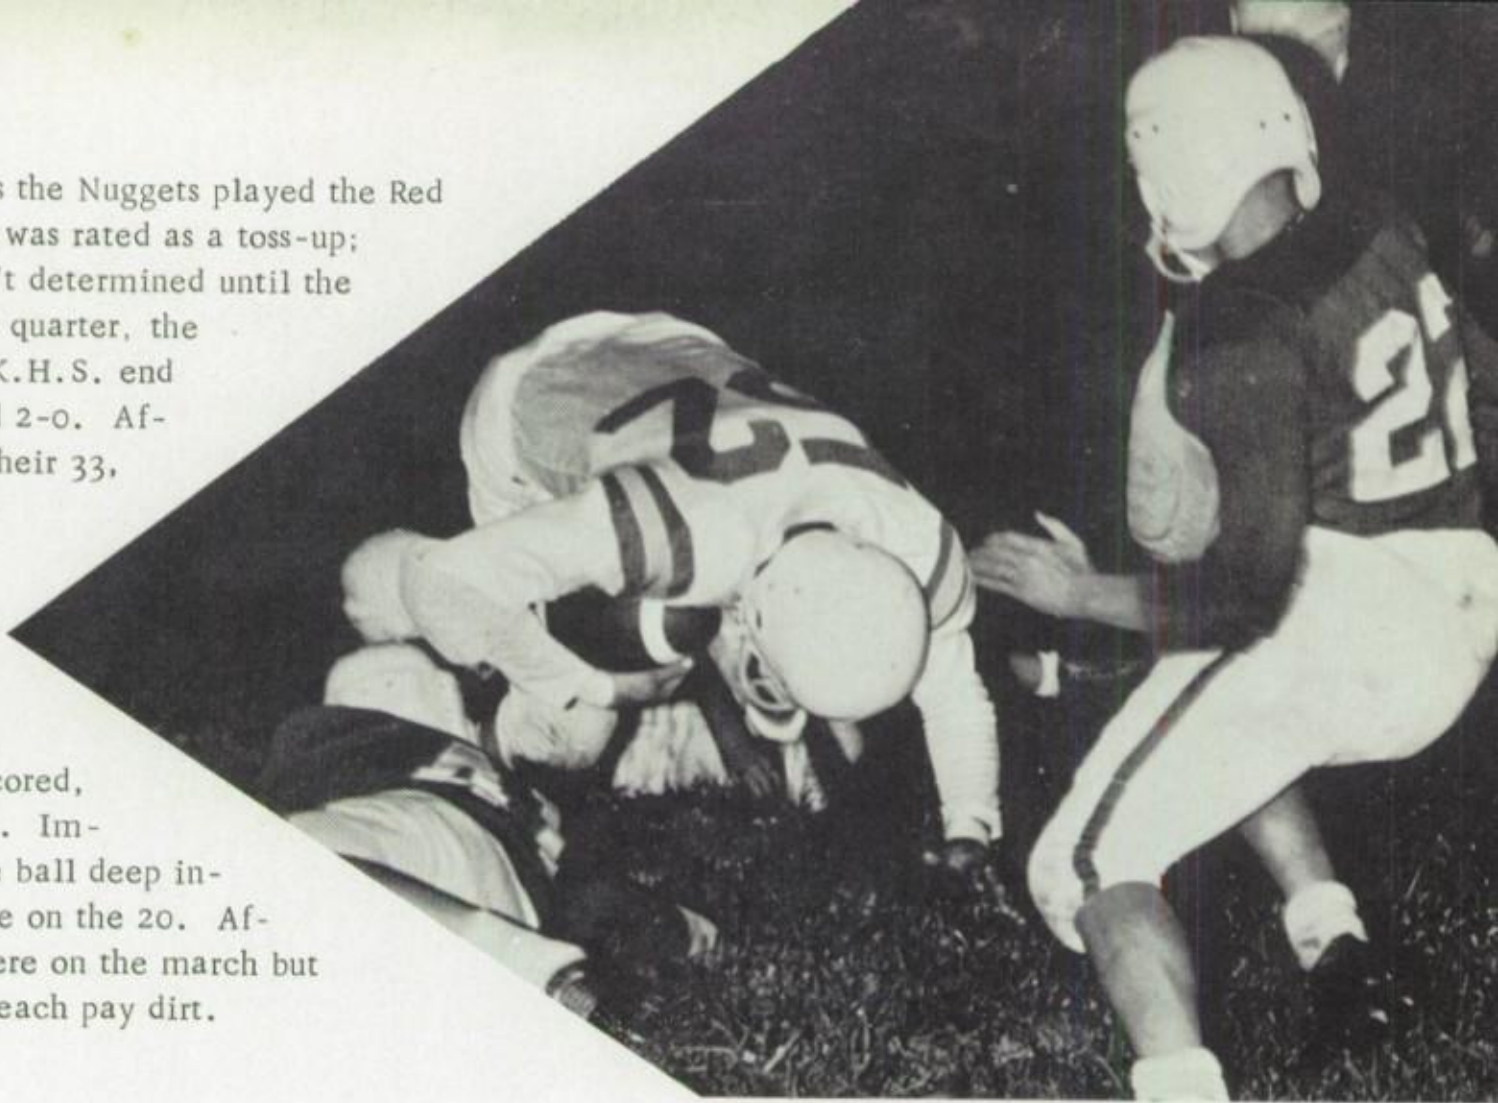

On September 22, the Nuggets were hosts to Turkey Run on the local gridiron. It was homecoming and the game drew a record Klondike crowd. The first half was nip and tuck until the visitors marched 60 yards for a TD, thus taking a 6-0 lead. After the half, the Nuggets continually outplayed their opponents. Reed spearheaded a scoring drive by skirting around left end for 20 yards. Colby plunged from the two to knot the score at 6-6. Late in the final period, Colby intercepted a pass on the Nugget 38. The team moved the ball skillfully to the 20, only to fumble. Now in possession, Turkey Run called a quick pass play and raced 62 yards for their final touchdown. Turkey Run converted and took home a 13-6 win.

The Nuggets played county rival, East Tipp, on September 26. Midway through the first period, Reed smashed through the line and scored from four yards out. Watkins kicked the extra point and the Nuggets held the first quarter lead 7-0. The Trojans came charging back. They scampered for a 70 yard gain and scored on the following play. Then, they missed the conversion. An intercepted pass set up the next score as the Trojans scooted 49 yards for the TD. With a successful conversion attempt, East Tipp led 13-7. Minutes later another intercepted Nugget pass turned into an East Tipp touchdown. At the halftime the Trojans led 19-7. On the opening play of the second half the Trojans dashed 55 yards for a TD. Later, Reed smashed in from the one and the score was completed 25-13.

On September 29, the Nuggets played Northwestern of Howard County. Early in the game, Klondike took a punt on their own 48. After earning a first down, Nugget Reed dashed for a 39 yard scoring run. Then, Northwestern went down the middle for 48 yards for a TD and tied the score 6 all. Twice after the intermission Northwestern plowed down the field to end the game 18-6.

October 6 was Dad's Day as the Nuggets played the Red Ramblers of Attica. The game was rated as a toss-up; accordingly, the outcome wasn't determined until the final moment. Late in the first quarter, the Ramblers trapped Colby in the K.H.S. end zone finishing the quarter ahead 2-0. After the Nuggets took a punt on their 33, Watkins passed 20 yards to Simlar. Seconds later, Colby dashed 40 yards around right end for a touchdown. Missing the conversion, the Nuggets led 6-2 at the half. After the break, the Ramblers scored, ran the extra point, and led 9-6. Immediately, the Nuggets took the ball deep into Attica territory only to fumble on the 20. After a punt, the Nuggets again were on the march but time ran out before they could reach pay dirt.

On October 20, the Nuggets played the final game of their season against county powerhouse, Southwestern. Eight Klondike seniors played their last Nugget football game: Tom Colby, Ralph Morehouse, Mike O'Connor, Keith Easton, Carl Reed, Jerry Miller, Perry Martin, and Rick Maier. Seniors Lynn Sheets and Dan Bylsma were sidelined by injuries. During the second quarter the Wildcats exploded with four touchdowns. The half ended Southwestern 26 and Klondike 0. In the third quarter Brewer intercepted a Wildcat pass and ran 14 yards for a score. The Nuggets missed the conversion. The quarter closed 26-6. In the final period Southwestern tallied three more times. The Wildcats missed all these conversion attempts yet won safely 44-6.

On October 10, the Nuggets met the Central Catholic Knights. Central took the opening kickoff, dominated the first half, and established a 26-0 lead. Colby skirted into the Klondike end zone from the one yard mark for the Nuggets' lone TD. The bigger, more experienced Knights scored twice more, winning 38-6.

Golden Nuggets, But

With victory as their goal, Coach Craig and his Klondike netters played a busy schedule of eighteen games and two tournaments. Under the leadership of Coach Craig and Senior co-captains Dan Bylsma and Keith Easton, the Nugget team practiced and played hard. Starting with the fundamentals of the game, Coach Craig developed a man-to-man defense and a pick-and-roll offense.

"The boys as a whole this year were very coachable, but they lacked the knowledge of the fundamentals of basketball. The boys on my squad also lacked experience, an asset which is needed in any game. Everyone, the boys and myself, has profited from the 1961-62 Klondike High School basketball season. We have learned to work as a team and that it takes this teamwork and spirit to win. This new-learned knowledge should be a definite asset to these boys in the future."

"This year has been rather unusual in one way, we were pitted against East-Tipp in both the county and sectional tournaments plus the fact that we played them in one regular season game. Of course, I don't like to play the same team three times in the season, but I can't change the drawings!"

Nuggets' Foremen

Bill Walker
Head Football and Track Coach
Assistant Basketball Coach

"Basically we had a good bunch of boys, but some didn't learn the element of self-discipline. To play is not enough; an athlete must have a sense of pride and self-achievement of a job well done, not merely the idea of starting a job and then half-heartedly completing it. Many of the younger boys have exhibited an interest and effort in trying to achieve, as a team, those goals which require team effort rather than glorification of individual names and loyalties. For a team to achieve in an endeavor, it requires parental sacrifice and student sacrifice with the idea paramount in the athlete's mind of team above himself. It seems evident with the facilities available at Klondike High School, that a renewed enthusiasm on the part of all could generate the needed spirit for the athletic clubs to fulfill their potential. To say that the boys did not want to win would be untrue, but they lacked an understanding of what is really necessary to achieve the true values that come with being a true champion."

Seventh Graders Catch Gold Rush Fever

The excitement of taking the giant step from grade school to Junior High School was still in the air for the excited and anxious seventh graders. For the first time they changed classes and teachers every fifty-five minutes. The hurried rush of running to lockers, talking to friends, and rushing into class just as the bell rang was an exciting and sometimes frightening experience. Now, they were treated as members of the Junior-Senior High School student body. For the first time they could attend pep sessions, high school convocations, and formal dances. Their supply of golden memories began to grow.

Eighth Graders Begin The Search

The upper classmen of Junior High School -- these were the eighth graders. Now, they eagerly await the fall when they will be freshmen.

The year was packed with exciting events. They had a flag football team, basketball team and games, cheerleaders, and their own graduation. They were getting a sample of their next four exciting and fun-filled years at Klondike.

Freshmen Venture Into The Gold Fields

The class of 1965 began their first high school days with enthusiasm and anticipation. Equipped with sharpened pencils and shiny new notebooks, they started their search for the treasures to be found in the next four years. Although the first few weeks were confusing for the "Frosh," they soon settled down into the routine of high school. The freshmen made their first big strike when they chose brown and beige as their class colors. This was an important decision because they will keep those colors during their remaining high school years. When the great day arrived, fifty-eight excited freshmen walked out of the homeroom wearing their new class sweaters. Now they were part of Klondike High School.

President, Jim Stevenson; Vice President, Steve Owen, Secretary, Becky Felix, and Treasurer, Rita Boyce, led the freshmen through their first year.

Sophomores Pan Out The Au.

The sophomores, well versed in high school life, made great strides in building up the treasury they will use when they are upper-classmen. They were responsible for the first big dance of the school year. Open only to sophomores and their dates, it was a festive Halloween affair. Yellow corn shocks and pumpkins filled with asters lent a gay atmosphere to the dance. The one money-making project, as is traditional, was the magazine sale. This year's grand total of $1841 set a new school record. The highlight of the year took place with the ordering of class rings. These golden objects will soon distinguish them as juniors.

President, Jim Bush, Vice President, Carolyn Cargnino, and Secretary-Treasurer, Dot Mulvey, watch record-breaking magazine sales soar.

Juniors Finally Near The Vein

The Junior Class, as usual, found itself with some immediate responsibilities. The first of these was selling school supplies on registration day. Later, they sold candy, popcorn, ice cream, and coke at the football and basketball games. Another problem was the Junior Play. This outstanding performance gave many class members a chance to show their acting ability. Receiving their class rings, which had been ordered the year before, was one of the high spots of the year. Sharing the spotlight of excitement was the planning and perfecting of the biggest social event of the year--the Junior and Senior Prom.

Junior planning was headed by President, Jan Brewer, Vice President, Bonnie Garrison, Secretary, Judy Butcher, and Reporter, Barbara Polstra.

Looking back on four busy years of their search for gold, the "old" prospectors relate their golden memories:

"Back in the fall of '58 we loaded our burros with the tools of our primary education, and started on our quest. As green grubstaked Freshman, we began our adventures. Our leaders during the first part of the expedition were Clyde Burghardt-President, Linda Smith-Vice-President, Tonia Andersen-Secretary, Audrey Gillespie-Treasurer, Dan Bylsma and Carl Reed-Student Council Representatives. Our class committee nominated Cindy Felix as our candidate for Homecoming Queen. With the arrival of our slate and scarlet class sweaters, we prospectors, achieved a new unity. Backed by the guidance of Mrs. Miriam Senger and Mr. Roger Etzler, we completed the first leg of our trek."

Receiving our golden class rings, we made our first strike. For this third segment of our search, we selected Dan Bylsma as President, Clyde Burghardt as Vice-President, Tonia Andersen as Secretary, Donna Andrews as Treasurer and Business Manager, Rick Maier and Betty Dunbar as Student Council Representatives. Pat Norris represented us in the Homecoming Court. Ever busy, we handled the concessions at games and during noon hours. To raise needed funds and to provide entertainment, we presented our Junior Class Play, "So This Is Bliss," which Miss Judith Coan directed. But, we needed more "nuggets"! Therefore we sponsored a car wash. We climaxed the year with our Junior-Senior Prom, "Sayanora". Throughout our pursuit of treasure, we were encouraged by Mrs. Lillian Sorensen and Mr. Kenneth Munro. In our 1961-62 year the foremen were Ann Skidmore-President, Tom Colby-Vice President, Betty Dunbar-Secretary, Mike O'Connor-Treasurer, Dan Bylsma and Rick Maier-Student Council Representatives. With gold and white decorations, we staged the 1961 Homecoming. Our representative in the Golden Court was Linda Walgreen. "Silver Mist" was the theme of the Senior's annual Christmas Dance. "Rocket in His Pocket" was the choice for the Senior class play. With the arrival of the Prospector, we held a dance to honor the Prospector King, Queen, and Court and distributed the yearbooks. Mrs. Lillian Sorensen and Mr. Victor Dupuis were our Senior class sponsors. With the coming of spring, our fever reached a peak as we ordered our invitations, caps, and gowns. We anticipated being the honored guests at the Junior-Senior Prom, "Gardens of Paradise." We also planned our own social events to climax our high school expedition. We enjoyed the Senior Trip and Senior Banquet. Baccalaureate was held at the First Christian Church on May 20. Reverend Wick was the speaker. Mr. Robert Kryter gave the Commencement address at our final class activity on May 22. As we thirty-nine Seniors proceeded down the aisle in our white gowns and caps with gold tassels we had finally reached our BONANZA!"

BOOM TOWN

The Klondike prospectors invaded Boom Town selling shares in the gold field. Many merchants contributed to the success of our strike.

Judy,
I think you
ought to be good,
if you can't be good be careful. If you can't be careful, be good.
P.S.

Judy,
Best of luck in the future to a real nice girl. Good luck to you and Larry, you two make a sharp couple.

class. Good luck
on the hurdles.
Alan C.

Judy
I can honestly say you'll always be in my
high school memories,
even though you were
only with us for a short time over a year. May God bless you where ever you go.

Best of luck

Today, I'm sure going to miss you next year, wish you were staying. Gosh just think we can't even be in any classes anymore. sitting about you. So next year when I'll think in the office next year I'll think + suck

Best wishes,
Judy, from now till '65 and on
Steve Owen

Feel humble that this register has been signed by someone that is a triple threat, handsome, witty and smart. (and as a special bonus you can get our free flirt attachment) Good luck from the one the only

Judy,
To a girl I haven't had a chance with yet and believe me I've tried almost all of them and haven't found the right one yet. Just think you could be her, (lucky) hahaha
Good luck
Bob = 6
Lucas
P.S. I hope to see you leave

Judy
To a real sweet girl, who's a lot of fun to be with, stay the same always. Loads of luck etc.
